URBAN-WASTE was presented to a wide public of experts and municipality authorities at the conference "Zero Waste: Waste Management and Circular Economy" in occasion International Fair "Progetto Comfort".

This was the ninth edition of the most prominent event in Sicily and southern Italy in the field of energy sustainability, environmental protection and promotion of the green economy. During the three days of the event (6-7-8 April 2017) there was an important program of conferences and technical seminars dedicated to the four main issues: Environ Waste, Eco Building, Energy, and Heating Plants with speakers of national and international importance.

A set of events and thematic and specialized seminars and an innovative trade fair are side events which make the event valuable. They allow the participants to combine the exhibit ideas, products, projects and solutions by exchanging them and encountering the supply and demand. In particular, URBAN-WASTE was presented inside the conference "Zero Waste Management and Circular Economy" in the presence of Salvo Cocina, responsible of the special office for the separate waste collection in Sicily, who was accompanied by Er Favoino, one of the founders of the ECN (European Compost Network) and currently coordinator of the Scientific Committee of the Research Center of Zero Waste.
